

Mobile Money Safety Checklist

A quick-reference companion to "Calls, SMS & Mobile Money Basics"

Before you send money

- Confirm the recipient's number is correct — read it back digit by digit before confirming.
- Confirm the exact amount on the screen before you enter your PIN.
- Know the transaction fee, if any, so the final debit does not surprise you.

USSD basics

- USSD codes (like *737#) are short dial codes for mobile money, airtime, and balance checks — confirm the exact code for your own network provider.
- Check your balance before and after a transfer to make sure it matches what you expect.

Red flags — never do these

- Never share your mobile money PIN with anyone — including someone claiming to be your bank or network provider.
- Be suspicious of unsolicited "you've won a prize" messages asking you to reply or send money.
- If a message urgently pressures you to act "right now," slow down and verify before doing anything.

After the transaction

- Save or screenshot the confirmation SMS.
- Check that your new balance matches what you expect.
